Description

Delightful GEORGE III sterling silver small oyster shell shaped dish.

Maker: William Burwash. London 1812

The naturalistic shaping of the dish is very attractive and adds to its appeal. A contemporary crest is engraved in the centre of the dish.

The extremely crisp and clear hallmarks and makers mark are stamped on the underneath of the dish.

This charming receptacle would be decorative on its own or filled with small sweetmeats. Alternatively it would make a handy small ring or cufflink keep-safe.
